Dear Hiring Manager,

Rachel Reed worked for me as an SEO Front End Developer from August 23, 2018 to April 3, 2019. Like all front-end developers, she wrote code for websites. Her responsibilities included; analysis, requirements gathering, and design of complex web applications using a variety of technologies.

During the course of her employment, Rachel proved herself to be a dependable employee and a hard worker with good technical skills. I was always impressed by Rachel's ability to step up, learn what needs to be done, and complete the work assigned to her on time.

While at OuterBox, Rachel had the opportunity to achieve a diverse knowledge of software/technologies, and was a valuable internal resource for others on her team. Rachel is a talented, hard-working employee who should do a great job for her next employer.

Sincerely,
Larry Engel
